When coming to Geogreen by public transportation, if you are arriving from CDG Airport (Roissy) or Orly Airport, in either case you should follow the directions to take the line B RER (regional rail) into Paris and change for the line A RER at Châtelet-Les Halles. If you are coming from the airport you will need to buy a ticket going all the way to Rueil-Malmaison but if you are coming directly from Paris you just need a ticket to Zone 3. Be sure to take a train going in the direction of Saint-Germain-en-Laye / Cergy Le Haut / Poissy. However, only trains going to Saint-Germain-en-Laye (A1) or a town on that spur of the network will come to Rueil-Malmaison. Do not take the trains to Cergy Le Haut (A3) or Poissy (A5). When you arrive at the station in Rueil Malmaison, take the exit that goes away from Paris and not the exit for Victor Hugo. Turn right at the bottom of the stairs and exit the station. Cross the street (rue des 2 Gares) and go along a pedestrian walkway to Allee Armand Camus, which then changes after crossing a main street to rue Eugene et Armand Peugeot. The walk from the RER station to the building should take about 3 minutes. Geogreen is in the building with the Géostock logo. The host at the front door will be able to give you a badge for access and will notify us that you have arrived.
